

Deaf Mutes Win Spurs On Production Front

Toledo—A "silent army" of 60 deaf mutes have joined the battle of production here.

They're helping Willys-Overland turn out jeeps, shells, and other war weapons, thus releasing physically fit men for the armed services. These workers assemble jeep parts, operate lathes, inspect bullet cores and perform a varied number of other war jobs in a manner which has won high praise from company production experts.

"We find," Joseph W. Frazer, president, explained, "that physically handicapped men make splendid production soldiers."
